FR. ED'S ONE LINERS!
 Be bold in what you stand for;
 and careful what you fall for.

JUST FOR THE PUN OF IT!!!

Why did the inclined plane refuse to divorce the fulcrum? He couldn't lever. Watching the movie Titanic is a real downer. In exorcism literature, possession is nine-tenths of the lore. What do you call a royal printmaker? A screen prince. I don't know how to put on a helmet - the whole idea goes right over my head.

PROVERBS - ¡REFRANES – DICHOS!
Si quieres fortuna y fama, levántate de mañana.
 (If you want fortune and fame, get up early.)
 The early bird catches the worm.

RIDDLE OF THE WEEK: What doesn't exist but has a name? LOOK FOR ANSWER NEXT WEEK.

LAST WEEK: It destroys and builds, it gives life and takes it away, it can go forever but it needs your support, it's your best friend and worst enemy. ANSWER: A game of basketball.

JOURNALING:

We usually think of discernment as what we do when we make an important decision in our lives—when we try to separate or distinguish the best course of action. The word discern, however, is grounded in the word concern and in the Sanskrit word that means to "pour out." When we are in prayer, we are, in fact, pouring out our souls to heaven, and in the silent space between prayer and divine insight, we are sorting out, separating and distinguishing what God might be trying to say to us. When prayer is the foundation of discernment, we are emptying our souls into the hands of heaven and having them filled again with the presence and direction of God.

Q. Why do people call some ministers Extraordinary Ministers?

A. Priests and deacons are the Ordinary (usual) Ministers of the Eucharist, by virtue of the sacrament of Holy Orders. However, in cases when the congregation is too large for them to distribute Communion in a timely manner, they are able to commission lay people to be Extraordinary (out-of-the-ordinary) Ministers of the Eucharist. These ministers are given a mandate from our Bishop to perform this ministry.

THE FATHER CONNECTION

As the Academy Awards (Oscars) approach, the film industry cranks up its efforts to advance their films with trade paper ads, promotional screenings, and other efforts. Fame is valued. Not least by the arriving stars at the ceremony, who turn and wave gratifyingly at the fans. After all, this is the culmination of their work: recognition of their talent and an adoring audience.

Not Jesus' way. After performing healings and exorcisms, he had them. Renown and popularity were his for the asking; he was even told "Everybody is looking for you." We know what a seasoned Hollywood actor would do, but not Jesus. After praying alone he goes on to nearby villages. Prayer was the secret of our Lord's life. Knowing where to go, what to say and what to do, was all determined by his praying to his Father. He knew that adulation was not why he came – spreading God's kingdom was.

And so to us, in our varying callings where fame is mostly absent, appreciation a rare visitor – and Job's words (First Reading) about "life as...hired drudgery" strikes a chord. A time to remember that something great is at work. If we stay faithful and connected in prayer, God's kingdom is being spread - even when the crowds are gone.

Definitely not Hollywood territory.
